thread the needle with your embroidery yarn and stitch with long stitches from edge to edge of outer holes of heart. Start by pulling at least 1 meter of thread through the first hole (wait to cut the thread) and sew from the bottom up and top down until you have used almost all the thread and take off the needle. Be careful not to sew the thread around the edge.

Cut a piece of yarn as long as the one you just used from the other end of the ball of yarn, thread the needle again and sew from edge to edge until you have used almost all the yarn.

Now you have two ends left to fasten.

Turn the heart over and fasten the ends by pulling the needle through the yarn in random places.

Cut off the ends.

Use one of the cut pieces to make the heart hanging.

The heart is now done.
